MEMORANDUM FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Peter Smerud

This year, Wolf Ridge stood at the forefront of a growing movement that's reshaping how we think about education, health, and our connection to the natural world.

In spring 2024, we proudly served as a thought leader in the push for Minnesota's Outdoor School for All (OSFA) Act. While the bill ultimately did not pass, it sparked a powerful conversation, garnering widespread media coverage and catalyzing similar legislative efforts in at least seven other states. The message resonated - outdoor learning is essential, and every child deserves access to it.

Wolf Ridge also contributed to another important initiative—the development of Minnesota's Children's Outdoor Bill of Rights. This policy framework outlines a vision where every child has guaranteed access to meaningful time in nature. Remarkably, 14 of the 15 rights identified by the Governor's task force can be fulfilled on a single trip to Wolf Ridge.

These efforts reflect a deeper truth. In an age when young people spend more time indoors and online than ever before, access to the outdoors is no longer a luxury but a necessity. At Wolf Ridge, we are working every day to reverse this trend. We don't just advocate, we act. In 2024, we provided nearly $400,000 in scholarships to help youth and families experience Wolf Ridge, the most we've awarded in our 50-year history. That's a tenfold increase from pre-pandemic levels, and thanks to strong public and philanthropic support, we've secured this level of funding for the next three years.

To carry this work forward, we've been actively strengthening our leadership team, bringing in new energy and expanded expertise to meet the growing need for outdoor learning. I'm especially excited to announce the addition of Rebecca Meyer to the team as our new Program Director. Her passion for outdoor education and her ability to connect vision with implementation make her a tremendous asset to Wolf Ridge as we continue to grow and evolve. With strong leaders at the helm, we are well-positioned to deepen our impact, innovate boldly, and ensure that every youth's outdoor learning experience is meaningful, inclusive, and transformative.

People care deeply about the future of youth, their communities, and the planet. At Wolf Ridge, we're responding with real solutions that inspire hope, build leadership, and foster lifelong connections with the natural world. We're grateful for your support and partnership now and in the seasons ahead.

Gratefully,

Peter Smerud
Wolf Ridge ELC Executive Director
